

GIRL IS HELD FOR ATTEMPTING TO DIE WITH HER MOTHER

Crippled Woman Was Asleep in Chair When Daughter Turned on Gas.

Mrs. Farley, the janitress of the apartment house No. 111 West Sixty-sixth street, was told to-day that there was a strong odor of gas in the hall opposite the door of the apartment of Mrs. Ellen O'Connell. She entered the room by way of the fire-escape and found Mrs. O'Connell partly unconscious on a chair in the kitchen and her daughter, Mary, lying on the floor, also dead. Every gas jet in the apartment was turned on as were the jets of the kitchen range. On a table in the parlor was this note:

"Notify my brother Joe, No. 28 West One Hundred and Forty-seventh street. Forgive me. I am sorry for what I have done."

Both women were hurried to Flower Hospital. They will recover. Mrs. O'Connell is under arrest charged with attempting suicide. Later she may be charged with attempted murder.

Joseph O'Connell said that his sister had been suffering from nervous prostration and melancholia.

The mother assured the police that she did not think her daughter realized that she would harm any one but herself. Mrs. O'Connell's leg was broken a few weeks ago and she cannot move about the house without assistance. She was asleep in her chair when the daughter turned on the gas.

Three Children Overcome by Gas. Philip Dressler, one year; William three, and their four-year-old sister, Guma, were overcome by gas at their home, No. 121 Pitt street, early to-day. All three were attended by a doctor from Gouverneur Hospital and remained at home.

Thursday Is a Day of Wonderful Values

In The Most Wanted Goods

Practically every store in this store of stores is represented in this advertisement to-day, with the most wanted goods, at very decided underpricing. It is a good old-fashioned bargain day, in the best meaning of that word bargain. Wise women and men shop early and bring this advertisement with them as a memo. There are generous quantities in every instance—but it is often the case that the very thing you want the most is most wanted by other people.

We never sacrifice quality for low pricing—but neither do we use high quality as an excuse for high pricing. We INITIATE low pricing.
